

ACCEPT IT - IT'S YOURS

"Accident prevention is everyone's responsibility."

You've probably heard this true statement more times than you can count—because it's the foundation of a safe workplace. Safety cannot rest on the shoulders of one person alone. No supervisor, manager, or coworker can watch every task at every moment. Our management team is committed to your safety, but the most important person in keeping you safe is you.

That's why completing your monthly safety programs, weekly safety topics, and daily safety talks is so important. These resources are designed to keep safety top of mind, build awareness of risks around you, and provide the tools you need to work smart and injury-free.

The training you've received—including our safety programs—along with established work procedures, general safety rules, and the use of common sense, all create the foundation for you and your co-workers to go home after work healthy and free of injuries... and that is very important to everyone.
